

Electrical Control Panel Assembler

Role Overview

TS Manufacturing is looking for an Electrical Control Panel Assembler to join our team. Working alongside experienced electricians and automation professionals, you'll gain valuable hands-on experience assembling industrial electrical control systems while developing your technical skills in a growing manufacturing environment.

This is an excellent opportunity for someone who is mechanically inclined, detail-oriented, and eager to build a long-term career in industrial electrical assembly.

What You'll Do

- Assemble electrical control panels, motor control centres, and junction boxes according to drawings, procedures, and production schedules.
- Read and interpret electrical schematics, wiring diagrams, and Bills of Material.
- Install, wire, label, and terminate electrical components accurately and neatly.
- Use hand and power tools to layout, drill, cut, and assemble control panels.
- Assist with electrical testing, troubleshooting, quality checks, and final preparation for shipment.
- Install electrical controls and devices on automated industrial machinery.
- Maintain organized work areas, electrical inventory, and accurate documentation.
- Support plant maintenance activities as required.
- Perform other duties as assigned.

What You Bring

This position is fully trainable for the right candidate. If you have a positive attitude, strong work ethic, attention to detail, manual dexterity, and a desire to learn, we'd love to hear from you.

- Strong attention to detail and commitment to quality workmanship.
- Mechanical aptitude and ability to use hand and power tools.
- Basic knowledge of electrical components is an asset but not required.
- Ability to stand for extended periods and perform repetitive assembly work using both hands.
- Electrical Technician/Technologist education is an asset but not required.
- High School Diploma or equivalent (GED) required.
- Valid Class G driver's license.
